EXAM

FAQs

Please read this information carefully.

You must also read the JCQ Notices, giving important information to Candidates, which can be found in the Student section of the College website under 'Exam Information'.

REMEMBER THAT IF YOU DO NOT STICK TO EXAM REGULATIONS, THERE COULD BE SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES SUCH AS LOSING THE MARKS FOR A PAPER, A WHOLE SUBJECT OR EVEN ALL OF YOUR EXAMS.

- What should I do if I am too ill to go to an exam?

You should try your very best to attend every exam that is printed on your personal timetable. If you are absolutely too ill to make it to your exam, then you MUST telephone college on 01942-214797 before 9:00am (morning exams) or 12:30pm (afternoon exams) and ask for a message to be passed to the Exams Officer that you are too ill to attend your exam(s). Leave a voicemail if no-one answers. If you miss an exam due to illness, you must hand in a doctor's note within three days of the missed exam. If you do not bring a doctor's note, you will be invoiced for the exam entry fee.

- What should I do if I am ill during my exams, but able to attend?

You should always let us know if you are unwell at exam time, preferably before you sit your exams. Go to Main Reception and ask to see the Exams Officer to explain the problem, or see your Personal Tutor. We can then help you out as much as possible.

- How will I know when and where my exams will take place?

You will receive an email to your College account telling you your Exam Timetable. This will show all the details you need (date, time, room, seat etc.) for all the exams you've been entered for, including any resits. If you think any exams are missing from your timetable, you MUST tell the Exams Officer as soon as possible – email exams@sjr.ac.uk. Please make sure you check the dates and times carefully – especially whether exams are in the MORNING or AFTERNOON. If you miss an exam because you have read your timetable wrong, there is absolutely nothing we can do about it.

- At what time will my exams start and finish?

For GCSE and A-level exams, morning exams start at 9.15am and afternoon exams start at 1.30pm. Other exams (such as Functional Skills) may be at different times and if this is the case, your teacher will let you know the start time. You should arrive no later than 15 minutes before the scheduled start time. End times will vary depending on how long individual exams are, whether you are entitled to extra time, etc. Be aware that exams may finish later than the time stated on your timetable, depending on whether the start was delayed – always allow extra time if you are planning transport home.

It is your responsibility to arrange alternative transport home if you are due to finish an exam after 4pm and therefore miss the college bus.

- What is 'Lunchtime Supervision'?

If your scheduled exams need to be re-arranged on any morning or afternoon because your subjects clash, you will have a period of lunchtime supervision. The Exams Officer will inform you directly if you have lunchtime supervision, and you will be required to collect your personal Exam Timetable from the Exams Office in person. There will be a card on your desk during your morning exam to remind you. You should bring a packed lunch on these days, as you will not be able to go to the refectory or shop.

Please note that you will not be allowed to come into contact with any other students and must remain with your supervisor at all times. If you break the conditions of supervision, you will not be allowed to sit your afternoon exam, and the marks from your morning exam may be cancelled.

- It looks like I have more than one exam on at the same time – what do I do?

Your timetable may show more than one exam on the same morning or afternoon: this is correct and they will take place one after the other; check the start and end times.

- Am I allowed to take my iPod, mobile phone or smart watch into the exam room?

The JCQ (exam board) regulations state that:

“Candidates must not be in possession of the following items: iPods; mobile phones; MP3/4 players or similar devices; watches. This means that: ideally, all unauthorised items are left outside of the examination room; any pencil cases taken into the examination room must be see-through; any unauthorised items that have been taken into the examination room must be placed out of reach of the candidates (and not under their desks) before the examination starts. Following the invigilator’s announcement any mobile phones or other unauthorised items in the candidates’ possession must be handed to the invigilator prior to the examination starting. This also includes watches. If candidates have access to unauthorised items in the examination room this may be considered as malpractice.”

At SJR we do not currently have anywhere for you to lock away your belongings, therefore for security we do allow you, if absolutely necessary, to bring your bags into exam rooms (as long as they are left at the back/front as instructed by the invigilators).

HOWEVER, you are responsible for making sure that any electronic items left in your bag are properly switched off, earphones are unplugged and no alarms are set.

If any noises are emitted from a bag during an exam, the bag will be removed and the disturbance reported to the exam board.

You will not be allowed to wear ANY kind of watch in an examination. You must hand it in to the invigilator. Your exam room will have a clock to track the time.

- What should I do if there is a bereavement in my family during the exams?

Make sure that you let us know of your loss. If you don’t feel able to tell the Exams Officer directly, then tell one of your teachers, your Personal Tutor or a member of the Chaplaincy team and they will pass the message on to the Exams Officer. We can then make appropriate arrangements to help you.

Make sure you always tell a member of staff of any problems, then College can do everything possible to help you.

- What equipment do I need to take to my exams?

You must bring your college ID to every exam with you. If this is not possible then you must bring alternative photographic ID, otherwise you will not be allowed into the exam room. Your basic exam kit should consist of 2 black pens (no other colour is permitted, and they must NOT be gel pens, or erasable), 2 pencils (HB), rubber, ruler and pencil sharpener. These should be brought in a clear plastic pencil case or bag. You may also need other specialist equipment or resources such as calculator, compasses, protractor, set text, etc.

Check with your subject teacher, and make sure you have all the necessary equipment or resources. They will not automatically be provided in the exam room for you.

- Will I be allowed to take a snack and a drink into the exam?

You are allowed to take into exam rooms a clear plastic bottle of water with the label removed and plain sweets with the wrappers removed. No other food or drink (including chewing gum) is allowed, unless needed for medical reasons (e.g. diabetes). If you are unsure if you are permitted to bring something in to the exam room, please ask an invigilator.

- When will I get my exam results?

For GCSE and A-level exams, results arrive at the end of August. You will be informed during the summer holidays telling you the exact dates and times for collecting results.

Final certificates for all qualifications will be available for collection towards the end of the year. Details on when certificates can be collected will be issued with results and via College social media accounts when they arrive.

A MESSAGE FROM THE EXAMS OFFICER...

All the exam boards have very strict exam regulations. PLEASE make sure you have read ALL the documents carefully – they are called the JCQ (Joint Council for Qualifications) regulations – You can also access these documents on the Student section of the college website in the Exams Information page.

The exam boards make it clear that:

- Their official exam sessions must be run under strictly fair and secure conditions, with no form of deception or malpractice. This rule severely excludes ANY form of communication between candidates during an exam, as well as any other practice that could be perceived as an attempt to cheat.
- Anyone attempting unfair practices can expect cancellation of exam entries and to be responsible for paying the fees that this will incur, as well as possible exclusion from any exams for a period of up to 5 years.
- Your exam invigilators are there to make your exams run as smoothly as possible, and to help you: however, they HAVE to stick to the rules; they HAVE to report to me ANYTHING that they feel could be suspicious or against the rules. I HAVE to report incidences of suspected, or actual, malpractice to the relevant awarding body.

Please don't risk wasting all your hard work by unintentionally breaking a simple rule just because you didn't read the information that was provided for you.

MAKE SURE YOU KNOW THE EXAM REGULATIONS, AND STICK TO THEM.

If you have an exam-related problem, or there is something you don't understand, please ask a member of staff for help. This could be your subject teacher, personal tutor, a member of the Chaplaincy team, myself, or any other member of staff. They will contact me and ask for advice on your behalf.

As long as you tell someone as soon as possible about a problem relating to exams, I should be able to do something to help.

You can come and talk to me at any time if you have an exam problem; please ask at Main Reception.

Finally - GOOD LUCK WITH YOUR EXAMS!

Sian Strett
(Exams Officer)
