

What's going on in ... Psychology

What are Year 12 studying?

The year 12 students are just about to start Approaches. This is where they will learn the origins of psychology and the different perspectives to explaining human behaviour. They will explore the unconscious mind and how this can control our conscious behaviour as well as considering the role genetics and neurochemicals have on predetermining our behaviour.

What are Year 13 studying?

The year 13 students are coming towards the end of their course now and are currently studying relationships. They are learning about the factors that affect attraction as well as the phases that couples go through when breaking up. What do you think? Do couples go through phases before telling others that they are breaking up? Does online technology change how relationships work?
